

The Flat
Tuesday.

Hi angel,

How's that for Westaway luck? What a heavenly weekend!
Gee honey, you've no idea how thrilled I was to see your sweet face smiling down at me from that platform. I had been wondering all the way down in the train how long we would get together during the weekend. I had not allowed myself to imagine what sort of a time it would be had you not managed to get off at all!! Cor!!

But there you were. Old faithful! And everything in the garden was lovely once more, despite the wind & rain.

This evening has been another like Saturday. I had to call at Cufley Lavers for the Finger Wine for the show. I didn't stay as I had a lot to do, but I had to stand and wait for over 20 minutes for a bus. - buffeted by the gusts of wind and getting damped and more miserable every minute. Besides I wanted my dinner!!

You can bet I made a fuss of the fire when I got in, and my toes are now feeling beautifully warm & toasted before the fire.

Jim had received a letter from Mrs Penfold, enclosing a few snaps that Penny had taken of Susan. Penny by the way is in India now. This game of ours sure travels around these days. I wonder how the Indian Climate will suit Penny - he always was a bit of a hot-house flower.

Did you know, by the way, that some weeks back they heard that Freddie Kidd had a mastoid while he was in Sicily or somewhere & was drafted back to N.A. to a rest camp where he immediately bumped into Tom.
Small world, eh?

And one other piece of news that I don't think Hux told you.
Gum has a girl engaged. So a girl at Leatherhead.

All I can say is she's a lucky girl & I hope she realises it, and best of luck to them both. ~~Oh~~ If they even approach within miles of the happiness which we have found together, angel, then they'll have touched the heights.
Luh?

I thought yesterday of some other little thing that would make a nice present for me - that is - a propelling pencil. Just another suggestion angel - so I'll leave you to fret around & make the final choice. Nice man.

Do you mind if I make this one a short note tonight, darling, and I'll try to make up for it tomorrow,

Sweet dreams, cherub,
I love you, Clare

P.S. By the way, honey, I have received from Hays our balance sheet for the year ended Sept. 30th.

I don't think you want me to send it on - or do you? The balance stands at £55. 15. 1.

On second thoughts here it is so that you can see the score for y'self.
