

88A Belknap Rd
Welling Kent

Darling
How lovely long lease, wasn't it super? And your baby feels marvellously fit - if a little tired - this evening... Wish you could be home all the time!
Wouldn't life be wonderful! Just one long, glorious honeymoon!

Oh me.

I like to see you meeting up with all your old cronies as you did today, but oh how tired and wan they look by comparison. There's no doubt that your service boys look absolutely in the pink!

I had a lovely lunch, and the glass remained with me all afternoon. Nice.

Did you catch a fast train down and arrive OK?

I hope your sleeping quarters are more hygienic than before - we don't want to risk infecting that throat of yours. I'm looking forward eagerly to receiving your first letter to learn whether you are staying put, going to hospital, or being posted to a shore base.

It lies in the lap of the Gods, and I am happy to leave the choice to them.

I didn't have much chance to work my train today at the office and so having a clear head after dinner I scribbled to Don's & family, Muriel, and Rex & Pat. - and now you.

One thing I was sorry about.
Pat & Rex called over at the flat last evening about 6.0 pm and stayed for an hour, but had to go off to catch Rex's train. Pity we missed the early train to Welling! I think I gave you Rex's address, but in case you have lost it maybe you'd care to drop a line to 219. High Street.

It won't seem the same not to have my darling warming my side of the bed tonight, and snuggling me down in his arms. Oh darling I miss you so, when you are away, and the ache is worse just after a leave together.

You are such a sweet person darling, and I love you very dearly. Don't ever stop caring for me, please.

All my thoughts are with you, loving you always,

Clark

LONDON
12.45 PM
28 NOV
1944

~~Woods~~

Polym. L. H. Westwood,

P.O. Box 500221,

Mass 11,

Amherst, Vermont,

Cooper

Hart