

~~Friday~~ Wednesday
The Office

Nothing more — I did feel fed up going home on Monday night, it is such a complete contrast to get on a train alone & go home to an empty house and lonesome bedroom.

No wonder sleep does not come so easily, and yet when you're home I just get so completely relaxed that I fall off without even thinking about it.
Ah me!

But I was glad that I left you in good company — you were probably all feeling the same, & could sympathise with one another.

Life for you now is once more a hectic one of buzzes, more buzzes & still more buzzes.
So long as none of them are confirmed & finalised than its O.K.
by me.

We've had the most glorious spell of summery weather since that gale spent itself on Monday night. It must almost be warm enough for open air bathing, and I wonder if you are taking advantage of it to start acquiring the usual Westy suntan.

As for me, being stuck at the office, I just sit & gaze dreamily out at the blue skies & build castles in the air. Hake wonderful plans for the future & enjoy wonderful imaginary holidays in a peaceful world with you. Oh gee!

Coming back to earth. I went to Westminster Labour Exchange & asked them prospects. It seems that so long as Establishment agree to release me Westminster Exchange cannot stand in my way & it then rests with my local office. I was warned however that if industry was priority in my locality then that's where I'd be sent, & that's a risk I take.

The next step seems to me to be a phone call with Mrs B. Lumbright (?) to find out what kind of work is available in the district. Then I can weigh the ad- and dis-advantages, and we shall see.

I have cut out + started making one of my candy-striped blouses, just in case that Easter holiday by the sea should come off. Keep your fingers crossed honey, and maybe we'll be together again next weekend.

Oh boy.

I've got you under my skin, & no mistake.

Dreamini of Dree,

Clare

22-3-45

John. H. Westenberg.

P.O. Box 500221.

Mem 18.

Miss. Howard.

Essex.

Thanks

12
20
1945

